

Forensic Investigations

Forensic Investigations are offered for homes and commercial buildings when the source of an ongoing problem needs to be determined. As a Class A General Contractor David has been performing Forensic Investigations on structures for almost 40 years with an excellent success rate. He has also been designing necessary processes for correcting such problems and properly repairing resulting damages.